PA NEWC Observes

Pa Newc is informed that a well known business man was seen riding down to town this morning on a youngster's bicycle.

Several thousand school pupils at Ellwood City are winding up their school work for the term today, this being the final day of school before the summer vacation.

Although roses are ordinarily not in bloom until June, the present continued preview of mid-summer has brought them along early. Numerous reports have reached Pa Newc about roses having burst into bloom in this locality.

Despite the fact that the streams north of the city were at a high stage Wednesday evening, there were some fishermen to be noted along the banks with hook and line.

Weather conditions this spring have developed most farm crops rapidly. Pa Newc is told. Wheat, rye, corn and oats, all look well advanced for this time of year.

In a picture in a Pittsburgh paper last night of fishermen in action at the Pymatuning, one is shown of Clifford P. Bruner, of New Castle, seated on a camp stool, with a pipe in his mouth, eagerly waiting to haul out a fish.

Rather an apt sign was noted along one of the roads near New Castle. It was a silhouette of a hen on a nest, perched atop a pole in front of a farm house, advertising that eggs were for sale.

Despite the efforts of police officers at downtown corners in the traffic education program, there are still a lot of pedestrians that seem determined to jaywalk in defiance of the traffic light signals.

If anyone in New Castle has found a battle ribbon containing three stars, Pfc. Raymond Ackerman, who is stationed at the DeShon hospital, would appreciate its return to the U. S. O. Center here. Pfc. Ackerman lost the ribbon while here Monday night.

Comes now the time for the "earliest" stage of garden boasting. One lad who has his garden in Shenandoah township claims to have blossoms on tomato plants in his garden. Is this the first of the season or something?

Clair Baldwin, who resides just off the Butler road, grows asparagus. One stock of which would produce. (Continued On Page Two)

Shattering Air Raids Continue On Nazi Europe

Gigantic Plane Formations Again Rip Targets In France And Belgium

FOLLOW HUGE NIGHT ASSAULTS

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
LONDON, May 25.—A force of 2,000 American warplanes hammered at rail installations and airfields in France and Belgium by daylight today, dealing a death blow to a large segment of the communications network on which the Nazis have relied to speed reinforcements to the invasion coast.

Pilots returning to one fortress station said confidently that they had succeeded in cutting off much of Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt's rail arteries to the Saar valley on which he has counted for the bulk of his navy armored reinforcements, oil and fuel supplies. These airmen reported that extensive destruction was wrought in key marshalling yards by the exploding bombs.

LONDON, May 25.—American fortress and Liberator bombers followed up forceful RAF night attacks on Germany, France and Belgium today with shattering assaults on a number of railway centers and airfields in France and Belgium.

"Very strong forces," probably numbering 2,000 planes, of bombers and escorting fighters took part in the daylight raids, headquarters of the U. S. Air Forces in Britain announced.

The Liberator and Fortress "attacked a number of railway marshalling yards, airfields and other railway targets in northeast France and Belgium this morning," the communiqué said.

Strong forces of Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings escorted the bombers.

Washington Roundup

(International News Service)

In Washington today political observers believe the surprise explosion of regular Democrats in Texas against the New Deal presages a tumultuous Democratic National convention, with damaging effect upon the fate of President Roosevelt if he seeks a fourth term. The Texas incident and the Florida primaries in which 43 percent of the delegates voted against the President again clearly show there is a serious fourth term revolt in the South.

There also is plenty of fireworks being planned for the German army. It is disclosed that America's heavy artillery program is being greatly stepped up to provide a huge number of big guns for the campaign to liberate Europe.

Meanwhile, official circles are voicing criticism of the British government in connection with the failure thus far to stop Portugal's shipments of wolfram to Germany. Officials are disclosed to be resentful against British insistence on moderate tactics and compromise in dealing with Portugal.

From Sen. Gillette (D) Iowa, a member of the Senate Naval affairs committee, comes a statement that Congress must share responsibility for transfer of a cruiser—or any other warships—to Russia. Entering the bitter congressional controversy over the reported deal, Gillette says the transfer is specifically authorized in the lend-lease act and the only way Congress can prevent it is by repealing part of the law.

Also in the Washington news, the Senate "liquor investigating committee" is reported to have reached the point of drawing up recommendations for curbing the liquor black market, and the special seven-man house committee investigating seizure of Montgomery Ward is meeting to hear Wayne C. Taylor, commerce undersecretary, testify on his role in taking over the mail order firm.

Junction Of Allied Forces In Italy Is Decisive Victory

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGIE
(Written Especially For I. N. S.)

The junction between United Nations forces striking from the Nettuno-Anzio beachhead south of Rome and the hard-fighting main Allied armies slugging their way up the Italian boot, announced in late dispatches this morning, represents a victory of great and probably decisive importance on the Italian front.

With American-British forces in the beachhead area thrusting with terrific force up the gently-sloping

Alban hills towards the eternal city and the American fifth army on the Mediterranean flank of allied main line, now well past the end of the mountain spur that terminates at Terracina on the sea, the entire western end of the so-called Adolf Hitler line across the Italian peninsula is flanked and exposed to attack from the rear.

Can't Block Allies

Under the circumstances it will be impossible for the Nazis to block either the entrance of the strategic Liri valley, down which the historic Via Cassina runs about 60 miles to Rome, or the coastal plain with its Appian highway, that follows an even easier and flatter route to the city of the Caesars.

Already dispatches indicate that the Nazi high command has seen (Continued On Page Two)

U. S. Infantry Advances In New Guinea

Jap Airstrips At Sarmi Are Near Capture—Many Jap Dead Are Found

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HQ, New Guinea, May 25.—American infantrymen, grimly advancing through the Dutch New Guinea jungles in the face of heavy enemy artillery and machine-gun fire, threatened the two Japanese airstrips in the Sarmi area today.

Having crossed the Tor river, the Yanks of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command advanced to within three and one-half miles west of the partially destroyed Maffin airfield and the adjacent Sarmi airdrome. The Yanks had nearly finished work on the former field when the Yanks staged their invasion and the Sarmi Island area, and the latter airstrip is in good condition.

Artillery Support

The determined American advance was supported by artillery batteries, landed at the Sarmi beachhead, and by gunfire from Allied naval vessels lying offshore.

Home Damaged By Lightning In New Wilmington

Residence Of Donald O. Cameron Struck During Storm On Wednesday Afternoon

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 25.—Several hundred dollars' damages were caused here Wednesday afternoon during a thunder storm when a bolt of lightning struck a house occupied by Donald O. Cameron on Lincoln street.

Striking a chimney at the peak of the house, the lightning scattered bricks over the yard, tore shingles off the side of the house, disrupted telephone and electrical connection and penetrated a room on the second floor.

A studio couch and electrical fixtures in the room were burned by the bolt which was felt in several neighboring homes when it struck the Cameron house.

New Wilmington firemen were called but their aid was not needed as the fire had been extinguished by the time they arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron and son, Donnie, were in the house when the lightning struck but no one was injured or stunned.

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS)—Civilian defense officials and police found general satisfaction today in the results of the surprise blackouts which affected New York and four adjacent counties.

Saboteurs Blow Up Huge Plant Aiding Germans

By STEN HELDMAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

STOCKHOLM, May 25.—One of the greatest individual acts of sabotage since the war began was reported today when Copenhagen dispatches revealed that Danish patriots have destroyed the Burmeister and Wain Diesel motor factories inside the sprawling shipyards of that firm.

The Burmeister and Wain plant comprises the largest shipbuilding and metallurgical factory in Scandinavia and one of the greatest in all Europe.

Its engines, before the war, were reportedly used in 85 per cent of all the world's ocean-going motorships and won particular favor in Britain. After occupying the city, the Nazis turned the plant to the manufacture of U-boat engines and motors for the Wehrmacht, according to underground reports.

Thirty armed patriots who overpowered the anti-saboteur guards posted around the premises made their way inside and planted explosives in the main building, the four-story building, its machinery, tools and models were wrecked completely, these dispatches said.

An adjoining large structure housing Diesel motors, was damaged severely in the blast.

Among the many activities of the Burmeister and Wain plant was the manufacture of motors for the Nazis and the building of ships and parts. The foundry and plant were known all over the world.

Ominous Lull On Russian Front

Repeated German Counter-Attacks Repulsed, In Old Poland Areas

MOSCOW, May 25.—(INS)—An ominous lull continued to prevail on the eastern front, interrupted by local clashes on the Lower Dniestr and in the Stanislawow sector of old Poland where repeated German counter-attacks repulsed in both areas.

Some 400 enemy dead littered the battlefield northwest of Tiraspol after Soviet artillery and machine gun crews smashed five successive counter-thrusts by the Germans along the Lower Dniestr. In addition, 20 Nazi tanks and four mobile guns were knocked out, together with three armored cars and 55 vehicles.

The communiqué which announced "no significant changes," told also of warships of the Black Sea fleet sinking a German submarine. No details were made available.

Jap Attacks Near Imphal Repulsed

KANDY, Ceylon, May 25.—(INS)—Japanese forces, attacking in two sectors of the Indian state of Manipur, were beaten off today and Allied jungle troops inflicted serious casualties upon the enemy.

Lord Louis Mountbatten's communiqué told of "heavy" Jap attacks against an Allied roadblock on the Tiddim road, south of the Manipur capital of Imphal. All were repulsed.

Similarly "heavy" thrusts were staged by the Japs against Allied positions around the Pale-Tamu road, southeast of Imphal.

"The enemy attacks were defeated, with severe Japanese losses," added the communiqué.

Fifteen More Jap Ships Are Sunk By Subs

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The navy announced today that American long range submarines operating throughout the Pacific and far eastern waters have sunk another Jap destroyer and 14 more vital enemy supply vessels.

Included in the latest "bag" by American undersea craft were the warship, three cargo transports, three tankers, seven cargo vessels and one transport.

Total Up To 724

These successes brought to 724 the total number of Japanese vessels sunk, probably sunk and damaged by U. S. submarines since the outbreak of war.

The total includes 573 vessels of all types sunk, 36 probably sunk and 115 damaged, but the overall figure should be greater because the navy several months ago discontinued reporting enemy ships hit but not destroyed.

The latest successes placed a further strain on Japanese supply lines which the enemy needs to reinforce and supply its beleaguered garrisons throughout the Pacific.

Increase Plan For Reports Of Invasion News

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS)—The American public was assured today of up-to-the-minute coverage of the invasion of western Europe, with the office of war information promising a mid-day "briefing" period at the supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary forces in London to augment the two regular daily communiqués.

Previously, an official announcement revealed that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters would release communiqués at 5:00 a. m. and 5 p. m. EWT daily.

However, in addition, correspondents will obtain fresh material at 11:30 a. m. EWT daily. OVI said also that, whenever the news warrants, special communiqués will be issued.

Terracina Is Badly Wrecked

Allies Find Bombs And Shells Caused Havoc In Italian Town

GRAVEYARD USED FOR NAZI DEFENSE

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY IN TERRACINA, Italy, May 25.—The Italian west coast town of Terracina was badly wrecked by bombs and shells but evidence of its pre-war beauty can still be seen today.

The tremendous seaside cafe and hotel in the middle of the town was punctured in scores of places and all of the windows were broken. But many red and green venetian blinds still flap grotesquely in the wind.

Across the street a large church, built in 1914 and named for one of the popes, Gregory, was left only a hollow shell. The left arm of a statue of the patron saint on the altar was blown off. The roof was full of holes and piles of rubble covered the floor.

Much Wreckage and Ruin

All the way down the Via Roma, the main street, there was similar wreckage and ruin.

The most gruesome sight in the Terracina area, however, is the cemetery situated on a hill which the Germans converted into a strong-point. They installed many mortar and machine-gun positions and brought up two giant 170 millimeter coastal defense guns.

The two 170 mm. rifles, one of which remains intact, straddle the road along which the graveyard is entered.

Typical of most Italian cemeteries, this had many lavish plaster and stone mausoleums above ground. Nearly all were horribly wrecked. Coffins and their contents were (Continued On Page Two)

Union Of Allied Forces In Italy Is Accomplished

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NAPLES, May 25.—Two victorious Allied armies battling for the liberation of Rome and all Italy joined forces on the Tyrrhenian seacoast today and welded their units into one.

Climaxing a drive of 60 difficult miles in the space of 14 days that sent the Germans flying in panicky rout, troops of the Fifth and Eighth armies made the junction with the Anzio beachhead army at some undesignated point a few miles southwest of the latter's southernmost boundary.

The Tyrrhenian Sea coastal highway, obviously usable despite Nazi claims of having flooded the entire Pontine marshes as a desperate defense measure, was the scene of the junction.

American and British armored units moving at break-neck speed in the wake of German detachments which preferred flight to battle teamed up near a hastily repaired bridge about one mile inland from the coast.

Drivers, officers and soldiers hopped out of jeeps and armored cars to clasp hands. As in Tunisia and at the Mareh line where similar junctions took place, the scene was dramatic and inspiring.

WITH THE COMBINED FIFTH ARMY at the Beachhead Junction South of Rome, May 25.—At 7:31 a. m. today, troops of the main Allied Fifth Army moving north from Terracina joined hands with American and British troops stationed since January 22 at the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead.

The meeting took place in the vicinity of Borgorapallo, near the coast of the Tyrrhenian sea and four miles south of Littoria.

Enemy Dead And Wreckage Choke Roads

By RITA HUME
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NAPLES, May 25.—Roads and bridges behind the German lines in Italy were choked today with enemy corpses and the wreckage of Nazi motorized equipment by smashing Allied aerial assaults carried out in support of the Fifth and Eighth army offensives.

Warplanes of the tactical air forces destroyed 359 German vehicles and damaged 284 others.

Smash Columns

In bombing and strafing attacks from the front to Rome, the United Nations airmen smashed at enemy transport columns, communications lines and towns behind the lines.

The Mediterranean air forces yesterday flew a near-record of 2,850 sorties, destroying 55 enemy planes while losing 10 heavy bombers and 11 other aircraft.

Night-flying Wellington bombers kept up their pounding of roads in the Valmontone area, supporting the Anzio beachhead forces. Meanwhile, medium bombers carried out "successful" attacks on bridges, railways and highways behind the German lines.

Communique Tells Of Allied Troops Union

(International News Service)

NAPLES, May 25.—Following is the text of a special communiqué issued by the allied field headquarters in the Mediterranean theater today.

"Patrols from the fifth army front made contact with patrols from the fifth army allied bridgehead force in the early morning of the 25th of May.

This brings to a climax the spectacular advance of the fifth army of more than 60 miles in only 14 days.

"The dramatic juncture of these patrols occurred a few miles southeast of the bridgehead on the coastal highway between Terracina and Anzio. Thus the fifth army has established land communications with the bridgehead for the first time since the landing was made January 22.

"Troops from the main front, overcoming powerful enemy resistance, have fought their way forward relentlessly since the night of May 11-12 over some of the most difficult terrain of the whole Italian campaign.

"Troops of the bridgehead have broken through a powerful defense built by the enemy to prevent the bridgehead force from participating in our advance from the main front."

Council Favors Recreation Plan

Action Taken On Recommendations For Playgrounds And Recreation Here

Council met today in the city building and following the urging of Parks Director Joseph D. Alexander voted unanimously to accept the recommendations of the city recreation board which means there will be no delay in the operations of local playgrounds.

The recommendations were:

1. Employment of Arthur Alexander as an all-year director at an annual salary of $1,000.
2. Employment of at least 12 teachers at a weekly salary of $25.
3. Divorce of the recreation board from the jurisdiction of the parks commission.

Councilman Alexander explained that as director of city parks and property and purchasing agent, there had been no time when there was a controversy over purchases. He said the recreation board always had made recommendations.

Mayor John F. Haven and Finance Director Albert Hoyland asserted they desired to learn the attitude of the school board concerning possible financial aid from the school board in operating the playgrounds because the school board has representation on the recreation board.

They claim that when the state law was passed it was supposed that the school boards would also appropriate monies for recreation.

The state law, according to the city officials, makes it possible for such appropriations. One member of the school board who is on the recreation board believes the state law only allows an appropriation for recreation on school grounds. Several city playgrounds are located on school property.

Before the resolution was adopted Mrs. Rae Elliott, representing a group of women, who in turn represented other groups, told the council they were interested in playgrounds operation, explained that the members of the recreation board should have something to say concerning their operation and recommended that the board be removed from the jurisdiction of the parks commission.

Council informed the women that there would be no delay in playgrounds operation and council felt that the board should be divorced from the parks commission.

The council and school board are to meet and discuss the proposal that the school board help pay for operating the playgrounds in the near future according to the mayor.

After council had adjourned there was an informal meeting of members of the parks commission. It was reported by Alec Samuels that the meeting concerned Cascade Park pool. A filter system is needed and this was to be the topic of discussion.

the hand-writing on the wall and is striving to withdraw its troops from the Italian peninsula and April 1944. This withdrawal will be followed by wholesale German retreats further inland.

Whether the Nazis will be able to organize a new line of resistance between Rome and the forward elements of the beachhead force, now within not much more than 20 miles of Italy's historic capital, is a question. There have been reports that such a line of resistance has been prepared. But the terrain that remains between the eternal city and United Nations armies is much more favorable than it has been heretofore, and it is doubtful if the allied forces, flustered with triumph, can be held in check for long.

Capture of Rome Likely

The capture of Rome, which now seems certain, will constitute a military and political victory of tremendous importance. With the Balkans wavering in the balance, its psychological effect is impossible to exaggerate.

Hitherto the Nazis have pointed to Italy as proof that American-British forces could not make headway against German defenses when the wehrmacht felt like making a fight. Now the most powerful mountain line they were able to organize has been cracked. The effect of this will not be lost on war-weary Romania, Hungary and Bulgaria.

Unknown quantity in the present Italian situation is whether the Nazis have determined to liquidate their entire campaign in Italy or will retreat gradually, pausing to fight at a series of resistance lines organized across the peninsula between Rome and the Po.

May Get Out

Strategic considerations would seem to dictate their complete withdrawal from the Italian scene after Rome is lost. Since the fall of Mussolini and the collapse of the Fascist army the whole weight of the Italian war has been carried by the Germans. The cost has been high and little real military value has been gained. Italy is part of the strategy of the Mediterranean and the Mediterranean was lost to the Axis beyond hope of recovery when the Italian fleet surrendered.

Germany can defend her vital territories with fewer troops from the passes of the Alps than in Italy's mountains and plains and troops are what the Nazis will need from now on.

Report Brussels Hit

The Nazi-controlled Belgian radio reported that Brussels was among the targets hit.

Formidable squadrons of British Lancasters and Halifaxes blasted similar targets by night.

Berlin underwent a third successive assault within 24 hours.

The militarily important rail center of Aachen, in western Germany near the Belgian frontier, a motor assembly plant at Antwerp, Belgium, and military objectives in France bore the brunt of the assault by the biggest bombers in the British arsenal.

The attacks, said the air ministry, were made "in very great strength." Planes of the bomber command also placed mines in enemy-controlled waters.

The communiqué reported 28 planes failed to return from the night missions.

Berlin Blasted

Speedy plywood Mosquito bombers hurled their loads of block-buster bombs on Berlin. The German capital was blasted in daylight yesterday by large forces of American Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers. Only 24 hours before other British Mosquitos had assailed the city.

The daylight raiders maintained their time-table of pre-invasion assaults against the Nazi Atlantic wall defenses and also struck at targets inland.

Cross-channel air activity reached a peak of intensity around noon when exceptionally strong forces continually soared out toward the continent.

The Nazi operated Luxembourg radio and the Normandy transmitter left the air at 1 p. m. London time.

The German radio warning system announced that Allied planes again were over the Reich. All normal radio transmissions in Germany were silenced when the warning system went into operation.

Massed Planes Everywhere

Some observers said the air traffic over the Straits of Dover seemed more intense than ever. During one period of about an hour no matter where one looked, it was said, there were formations of massed planes—bombers with great escorts of fighters.

Shortly after daybreak hundreds of Allied bombers and fighters streamed out toward the continent. It appeared that the Reich and occupied territory was undergoing a renewal of the vast raids carried out yesterday by squadrons estimated to number close to 8,000.

American heavyweights featured the day's operations which struck at Berlin, several airdromes in France and bombardments by Mediterranean-based planes of aircraft factories and airfields in the Vienna area.

The fiercest German opposition was encountered over Berlin. At least 77 craft out of large forces of German interceptors were shot down. The Eighth Air Force lost 32 bombers and 13 fighters.

T-Sgt. R. E. Williams Missing In Action

Southside Airmen In Flying Fortress Over Germany Reported Missing

Word was received this morning from the War department at Washington, D. C., by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Williams of 1232 South Mill Street, that their son, Tech, Sgt. Roy E. Williams, had been reported missing in action.

The telegram advised Mrs. Mae Williams, mother of the local airman, that he has been reported missing since May twelfth over Germany, and if further details or information was received, she would be promptly notified.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams received their last letter from their son, Sergeant Williams, dated May 10, when he stated he expected to be home in June, as by that time he expected to have completed the required amount of bombing missions; said "Don't worry, I'm alright."

Sergeant Williams, age 26, has been in the service for two years, and overseas in England since October. He was engineer and turret gunner in a Flying Fortress.

He attended New Castle high school.

When he entered the service, he was employed in an aircraft factory in Los Angeles, Calif.

UNION OF ALLIED FORCES IN ITALY IS ACCOMPLISHED

trucks and jeeps from the two converging forces, followed by photographic reconnaissance units and correspondents.

Telephone and telegraph communications between the two armies was established immediately and what had been a long, seemingly impassable belt of hostile territory was transformed almost miraculously into solidly-held Allied battle lines.

Ends Beachhead

The junction ended the Anzio-Nettuno beachhead as such. The two-fold gained some 32 miles south of Rome on Jan. 22 and tortuously held in the face of enemy artillery and air attacks until Gen. Clark finally ordered the signal for a general attack against Cisterna and Littorio a few days ago has now become part of the general Allied front.

Contact between the spearhead patrols was made early in the morning.

Just prior to the headquarters announcement that contact had been made, the German DNB agency reported a withdrawal of Nazi forces from the entire 21-mile coastal stretch between the Anzio area and Terracina.

The Allied troops linked up along the coastal road between Anzio and Terracina.

The junction was effected just 124 days after the Allies established a beachhead northwest of the main battle line.

Special Announcement

Word of the junction came in a special announcement from headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson only a short time after issuance of a radio communique which said that after reaching points only 17 miles apart the Allied columns were continuing to advance.

The linking of forces brought to a spectacular climax the advance of the Fifth Army from the Garigliano river front over a distance of more than 60 miles in only 14 days.

The dramatic junction of the advanced patrols took place a few miles southeast of the bridgehead.

Thus the Fifth Army established land communications from the bridgehead for the first time since landing in the Anzio-Nettuno area last January 22.

Battle War Forward

Troops from the main front, overcoming powerful enemy resistance, have fought their way forward relentlessly since the night of May 11-12 over some of the most difficult terrain encountered in the entire Italian campaign.

Troops from the bridgehead have broken through powerful defenses built by the enemy in a futile effort to prevent the bridgehead force from pushing in advances with troops from the main front.

The beachhead forces made deep incursions into the Nazi defense perimeter and the enemy was pushed back steadily along the main front all the way from the Tyrrhenian Sea coast above Terracina to Roccasecca, northwest of Cassino.

Nazi Admits Setbacks

(The Germans acknowledged setbacks at the hands of both the beachhead and main front forces, reporting that the entire coastal area along a 21-mile stretch from Terracina northwestward to the Anzio region had been evacuated.)

(The Nazi DNB which reported the withdrawal also acknowledged a retreat from the Pontecorvo-Piedimonte sector to the Melfa river where the Eighth Army is advancing.)

The Americans of the Fifth Army northwest of Terracina smashed forward to take a peak only a mile east of Priverno, within 17 miles of the beachhead forces. Sonnino was taken enroute.

Yanks from the beachhead army battled into the outskirts of Cisterna, strategic enemy stronghold on the Apennine way which already has been severed.

Other beachhead units which crossed the Apennine way occupied Lavilla a mile west of Cisterna.

The Eighth Army occupied Pontecorvo which had been one of the enemy's principal bastions in the Hitler line. Roccasecca also was taken.

Ward Case Repercussions

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Beginning quietly enough, the House investigation into the Montgomery Ward case promises to produce some sensations before it ends. The committee—four Democrats and three Republicans—may come out agreeing on an objective report, but I doubt it.

The whole business is hub deep in politics. The Republicans at this point seem bent on making Sewell Avery an issue in the 44 campaign. They may have a change of heart before the hearings are concluded. The CIO is preparing a blitz on Avery, based on a careful scrutiny of his entire record. According to present reports, this blitz will be unleashed in the course of the hearings, probably during Avery's cross-examination by members of the committee.

Plans Separate Report

Senator McCarran of Nevada, a Democrat, is going ahead with plans for a separate report by his own committee in the Senate. He now says that possibly he'll make it public in a week, timing it, perhaps, with Avery's appearance before the House committee.

The senator from Nevada is having his own little private war with the CIO which throws an interesting light on the strange politics of this unprecedented year. When war industries were being located in various parts of the country, McCarran revealed on the War Production Board to put a big magnesium plant in his state. That he has since discovered was by way of hauling in the Trojan horse.

At the Las Vegas magnesium plant are some 30,000 employees, most of them newcomers to Nevada. They voted not long ago in favor of the CIO as a bargaining agent, and while the issue is in dispute with the A. F. of L., the fact remains that a majority are on the CIO side.

New Voters Influence

Now it doesn't take a great political seer to divine the influence of 10 to 15 thousand new voters in a state that was shown by the 1940 election to have a total population of 110,247. If the CIO does the kind of job in getting those voters registered that it has done elsewhere, they could swing the election. McCarran has been a conservative, yes, an ultra-conservative. So the new threat of the CIO's political power is a real one. In his report on Montgomery Ward, the senator from Nevada may have a chance to express some of his pent-up emotions.

The House hearings began with an able presentation of the War Labor Board case by Chairman William H. Davis. Davis, who has the face of an earnest cherub, is intensely hard working and intensely sincere.

"We think," he said, "we have the best program for settling labor disputes that exists anywhere in the world."

No System Perfect

This may be put down to the understandable pride of a man who has sacrificed much for a job he never wanted. But Davis added that no system could be perfect, and you certainly have to agree with that. There's no way in a free country to end strikes by fiat.

In the course of his statement, Davis quoted from the remarks of two former industry members of the War Labor Board who were sharply critical of Montgomery Ward and his behavior in the past. One was Harry L. Derby, president of a big chemical company, and the other was Roger D. Lapham, west coast shipping executive and now mayor of San Francisco. From first hand experience they knew what obstacles had been put in the way of a fair settlement.

All the fuss of hearings and reports is not likely to produce anything that gets at the nub of the matter as nearly as the comment made recently by Malcolm W. Bingay in his column in the Detroit Free Press. He said:

"To me it seems supremely asinine to contend that a government in war time can take a man away from his family, his property and his job to fight for his country and to give up his life—which no court or act of Congress can restore to him—but it must not interfere with an angry old gentleman who wants to settle a private feud with a man named Roosevelt who happened to be President."

That puts it in the proverbial nutshell.

Were it not for snow and rain, Home would lack both roof and pane.

For a human lifetime through Shelter from the wind would do.

Were it not to all men clear, Fever, chill and hurt are here, Boys would not to college turn, Therapeutic arts to learn.

Were it not that roadways wind, Destinations hard to find, Needless signs were, night and day, Lest some stranger miss the way.

Great Game
Of PoliticsBy FRANK R. KENT
(Copyright, 1944)
By The Baltimore SunMr. Roosevelt And The Radicals

WASHINGTON, May 25.—You now call itself the "Communist Political Association," to favor Mr. Roosevelt's fourth-term candidacy is entirely logical and consistent. This was forecast many months ago by the declaration of Mr. Earl Browder, whom Mr. Roosevelt released from prison in the interests of national unity nearly two years ago, and will surprise no one.

IN HIS demand for a fourth Roosevelt term, Mr. Browder was so far ahead of all others that he easily can establish his claim to being the original fourth-termer. The CIO leaders, the city bosses, such as Hague and Kelly, the White House Senators such as Pepper, Hill and Green, all followed Mr. Browder—they did not precede him. Moreover, Mr. Browder is not swinging his party for a fourth term because of the Presidential pardon.

SUPPORT of Mr. Roosevelt and the New Deal has been a Communist party policy since 1936. The Communists supported Mr. Roosevelt even when they had a Presidential candidate of their own. They supported him even when he found it politically expedient to say he did not desire their support. And the reason the Communists have been for Mr. Roosevelt so long and are for him so unitedly this time is very clear indeed. They have publicly declared it upon various occasions. In brief, it is that the Roosevelt policies and the New Deal tend in the Communist direction, and better than anything else help move the country toward "our goals." Communist platforms have said this in so many words and Mr. Browder, the Communist leader has proclaimed it in his speeches.

UNTIL, QUITE recently, one of the clearly understood goals of the Communist party was to bring about an economic chaos in this country out of which Communism would emerge. The New Deal being clearly headed toward "economic chaos," the Communist support was clearly indicated from their standpoint. Early in 1942, during the deportation proceeding against Harry Bridges, radical West Coast CIO labor leader, Attorney General Biddle characterized the Communist party as an agency which advocated the "throw of the United States Government." A very short time ago through Mr. Browder, it was announced that the Communist party would put no Presidential candidate in the field this year and intended to dissolve as a political party. At the convention of Sunday it changed its name and adopted a constitution in which expulsion was pronounced upon all those who seek to "subvert, undermine, weaken or overthrow any or all institutions of American democracy." Thus the leopard changed its spots—or at least, such is the idea sought to be promulgated. Of course, nobody but the most completely credulous believe any such thing.

THE CHANGE in name means nothing. The abandonment of the separate party idea relieves the leaders of both labor and expense. It is no longer a "party" but a "movement" as a solid voting bloc. It involves no change in either leadership or aims. It makes it easier for the Communists to "bore from within," and anyone who does not think they have been successfully boring might ponder the completeness with which the CIO has taken control of the American Labor party in New York. It would also be illuminating to read the long list of CIO leaders, white and colored, who attended the first gathering of the Communist Political Association on Sunday in New York.

CERTAINLY that list goes a long way toward confirming the frequent charges of Mr. John L. Lewis and others that the Communists are in key positions inside the big CIO unions and wield the real power within the organization. As things stand now Mr. Browder, representing the Communist and the Messrs. Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, representing the CIO, are the most ardent and articulate advocates of the fourth term. The "Liberal" party, composed of the defeated right wing of the American Labor party, has also declared for Mr. Roosevelt. So has the Daily Worker, the Communist organ, and all the other left-wing newspapers, magazines and organizations.

IT IS not true, of course, that all of those who want Mr. Roosevelt for a fourth term are crackpots and radicals. But it is true that all the crackpots and radicals want a fourth term. That vote he has with complete solidity. Moreover, the activity of this element is so great its propaganda facilities so strong that it seems bound to color the fourth-term campaign—even, some think, likely to have more to do with its national management than the Democratic National Committee itself. It is not surprising that, as they observe these radical elements rushing to the front, regular Democrats are somewhat appalled. It is not surprising that there should be speculation as to whether in the event of another Roosevelt election the Communist CIO would not be in position really to take over the Democratic party. At any rate there is a great deal more fourth-term enthusiasm evinced at this time among the radicals than among the regulars. And that is logical, too.

German War Prisoners Are Tough And Smart
His Initiative Has Been Crushed However
Not Superior To Average American SoldierBy HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—You get a first hand glimpse of our Nazi foe when you see a German soldier in a United States prisoner of war camp. You think: Here is the enemy. Is he tough and smart? As tough and smart as we hear he is?

Certainly he's tough and smart. He's a first hand glimpse of our Nazi foe when you see a German soldier in a United States prisoner of war camp. You think: Here is the enemy. Is he tough and smart? As tough and smart as we hear he is?

I asked many questions of the W. P. camp commanders at Fort Lee and Fort Pickett about the German soldier. I watched the German soldier as best I could from the distance. I was permitted to see him on my recent visits to the forts. What I learned of this young fighting man who captures and gives the best of us a lesson in how to win a struggle to defeat I shall now condense in small paragraphs.

Not A Superman

The German soldier is NOT a superman. He has health, strength, industry and stamina. He has had years of military training. But he is NOT superior to the average American soldier. Put American uniforms on Germans and German uniforms on Americans. Mix them up and you wouldn't be able to tell them apart. Both Colonel Moulton and Major Gieson told me this individually. Each commanding officer was unaware that the other had so spoken.

The German soldier has been disciplined to obey like a machine, but such machine-like obedience has its weaknesses. It kills initiative. For example—put 50 German P. W. as the prisoner of war are called—to work at 8 o'clock some morning on a swamp cleaning project. At 10 o'clock take 25 of them off the project and move them under guard to a new project—say, farming. The 25 P. W. in the swamp job will be completely demoralized. They won't know how to fill in the gaps the departing 25 have made. The departing 25 put into the farm job for which they had not been given early morning instructions. They will be demoralized in their unexpected environment. The result of the change will be that no work will be had out of 50 men all day.

American soldiers in a similar situation would bank ahead and try to fill the gaps. There have been instances where the United States soldier and plunk into the second job without an instant's hesitation.

Fight Among Selves

Undoubtedly there are Nazis and political maneuverers in the P. W. camps. How could it be supposed there would not? Perhaps among the P. W. there are young Germans who are not Nazis. But how would it be possible ever to be sure which were which?

Yes, there have been some unpleasant disturbances in several of the P. W. camps. There have been rebellions and fighting among the prisoners. There was the German P. W. who was found hanging to a rafter in his room one morning. It is not possible to supply enough guards to watch every P. W. The guards do the best they can. First, civilian prisoners fighting is not unheard of. Prisoners in civilian prisons have been known to kill each other and to commit suicide.

We know we are not up against bulldozers in the German camps, on the battle field or in the prisoner camps.

The Parent
Problem

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

MORE EMPHASIS ON SELF CONTROL

For many years I have been entreating parents to control their children at home and to begin it as soon as the youngster can move about, urging the need of selective physical punishment in the preschool year with effective substitutes after the age of six. My bulletin, "How to Teach Your Child," No. 2, to be had by writing me at 235 East 44th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope has reached many thousand homes in the United States and Canada.

Knowing that so many children have missed the alphabet of control in their pre-school years, I have even advised in recent months, the switch or paddle for some of these incorrigibles as late as even seven or eight. This advice I offer with hesitancy because many a parent lacking self-control and ability to be consistent in dealing with the youngster up to five or six may be more fit to punish him effectively thereafter. Besides, there still are some parents who whip their younger or older children too much when they feel like letting off some pent-up anger. No parents is fit to punish a child in any way, or the child to profit much from it, who cannot master his own emotions and keep constantly in mind the welfare of the child, not can any teacher.

Home Control Lay

As a rule, home control has relaxed fastest in the so-called best homes, homes of education and influence. The chief reason for this is the doctrine of child rearing by the rank and file of "child experts" and parent counselors who have led these parents to believe that to restrain a child is to warp his personality. Correspondingly, these same parents have been told that the child should be allowed to do as he pleases.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

In taking a walk through the woods I came across an old horse chestnut tree on which was carved a heart with an arrow through it and the words "Louis loves Mary 1912."

The carving was pretty faint and you had to look closely to be able to read it.

Thirty-two years ago two lovers must have stood at this same tree, probably vowing eternal love, telling the world about it. "Louis loves Mary."

Who was Louis, who Mary? Where are they now, what has become of them?

Is Mary still Louis' Mary, or was that carved inscription just part of a beautiful Spring dream?

I remember once, many years ago, I carved my initials and those of my at that time one and only adored one in a cork bench.

I remember we swore to be forever true, no matter what might befall us.

I remember she put her little head upon my manly shoulder. I was sixteen, and a great resolve welled up in my heart—forever to cherish and protect this frail and lovely creature.

Can't Remember Name

I remember it all so plainly—but for the life of me I can't remember the fair lady's name or what she looked like or even her initials.

You must have seen hundreds of these carved initials and dates and hearts and arrows on trees and rocks and building walls and benches and sidewalks and in other places.

Probably most of them are long forgotten, probably most of them were only passing fancies.

And yet they meant so much at the time, just as so many little things that today seem so unimportant were of such vital essence when they happened.

So, while Louis may not have been Mary since 1912 when he carved the inscription on that horse chestnut tree, maybe that very day was the noblest of his life, maybe it was the one day on which Louis was a shining knight and Mary the beautiful princess high up in the castle.

Maybe many of the things carved in our memories have left much more lasting impressions on our characters and hearts than we realize.

And while I have forgotten my park bench sweetheart's name and presence, I do remember that it was beautiful while it lasted.

The World and the Mud Puddles

ON THE RIGHT JOB.

General MacArthur's refusal to become a candidate for the Presidency is in reality a very wise decision on MacArthur's part. In the first place, MacArthur feels that he has a particular duty to perform in the South Pacific, and not from mere egotism does he believe that he is the man to finish the job for the United States. He at least will not be happy until the Philippines are again under the Stars and Stripes, until the Japanese flag is banished forever from the Islands.

War heroes, when elected to the Presidency of this nation, have not made remarkable records, perhaps one exception, and that was General Washington. Washington was in a class all by himself. And Washington had a remarkable collection of advisers, notably Alexander Hamilton. When it comes to matters of finance, General Jackson made a remarkable record. He is the only President who left the White House with the nation absolutely free of debt. There was not a single bond of indebtedness against the United States when General Jackson left office. And the One Hundredth dinner on Jackson Day for the benefit of the campaign funds of the Democratic Party are really jokes. For if ever there was a close-fisted economist, it was General Jackson and if the souls of the dead are conscious of the events on the face of the earth, the soul of General Jackson would probably be inclined to laughter at the manner in which the New Deal celebrates his life. General Grant, a great military leader, was not a great President, as his connection with the famous Wall Street firm of Grant and Ward will attest.

What sort of a President General MacArthur would make were he elected, is something unknown, but it is known that he is perfectly fit, probably the most able man to handle the war with Japan. His entire life has been devoted to the Army and no one will say that he lacks vision. He is without doubt regarded by the people of this nation as the outstanding figure of the Japanese War and his promise of escaping from Bataan to Australia to drive the barbarians from the Philippines is something the accomplishment of which his friends should not interfere.

Returned Tank Officer Tells Interesting Story Of Exploits Of Yanks In Italy

New Castle Kiwanis club members heard an interesting account of the war from the lips of Capt. Oren D. McFarland, New Castle tank commander back from the Cassino front, after almost two years in the A. E. F. at The Castle-ton Wednesday.

Capt. McFarland, referring to the singing of America and the Salute to Old Glory, said that by now, we might be singing to the large captured Nazi flag, which he had on display, but for the courage of those of our men who got into the fighting in the opening phases of the war, or to the Rising Sun.

He related many interesting experiences gained in England, North Africa, and Italy, and showed a number of captured souvenirs, which included grenades and anti-personnel bombs, a German compass and what is believed to be a range computer.

He also showed the "victory" medal, which Hitler and Mussolini had struck off for the victorious troops in North Africa, when it seemed that the Axis powers were on the verge of victory there, and other decorations.

The huge Nazi flag was one discovered among a pile of stores in a Nazi storeroom after the Yanks had taken over in Naples.

CUT EARLY TO GET THE BEST FEED

Triple-purpose pastures will produce the best silage or the finest hay if the first cutting is made when the orchard grass is about half headed.

Extension agronomists of the Pennsylvania State College say that waiting until the orchard grass is mature results in smothering the Ladino clover and in a lower quality product. Early cutting into the silo will largely eliminate seed production of the early weeds like winter tress and pepper grass. Since the triple-purpose mixtures are designed especially for midsummer grazing, the possible unfavorable effect of the early cutting on the alfalfa in the mixture can be disregarded.

SWEET CORN EXTENDS GRAIN FEED FOR HOGS
Farmers raising hogs for the early fall market should plan special fields of sweet corn to permit savings on high-priced grains. Few farmers have enough feed to keep hogs on full feed at present.

Where the animals are to be finished and placed on the market in early fall it is important to produce some form of grain to avoid the pinches of much high-priced feed. One practice is to grow sweet corn, which can be fed in three ways. This may be fed when the ears can be snapped, as the entire stalk cut and fed, or fencing the crop and letting the hogs harvest the crop.

If sweet corn is used, it is a good plan to plant three varieties at one time. Use an early maturing variety like Spancross, a mid-season type like Lincoln, and a late maturing variety, such as Stowell's Evergreen.

Sweet corn will not produce as much feed per acre as field corn, but is palatable and high in sugar. It produces good grain, and because of the shortage of feeds, can be used to good advantage at this time.

BROODY TURKEY HENS SHOULD BE PENNED

A tendency for turkey hens to brood from one to four times during a laying season can be reduced by penning the hens as soon as they show specific evidence of broodiness. Tests at the Pennsylvania State College show that periods when turkey hens are out of production can be reduced.

If hens are penned the first day they brood, they can be returned to the breeding pens in about three days and often will start laying 2 to 5 days later. If a turkey is allowed to brood several days before she is penned up, it takes considerably longer for her to return to laying.

PREVENT DAMAGE TO FRUIT AND SHADE TREES

Canker worms and ten caterpillars can be expected to eat the leaves of many trees in Lawrence County unless protection is given to the foliage.

As soon as worms or caterpillars are seen, the trees should be sprayed with arsenate of lead. The young insects can be killed rather easily, while the older ones are resistant to poisoning.

Two pounds of arsenate of lead to fifty gallons of water or ten tablespoons for five gallons may be used.

Bagworm injury can be reduced by removing the bags containing eggs as they hang from trees, especially the evergreens unless these eggs are destroyed, they will hatch in a few weeks and will also cause damage.

CLEAN BLACK SOLE AND HEEL MARKS FROM FLOOR

Wartime rubber soles and heels are leaving more black marks than usual on waxed floors and stair steps, homemakers complain. The removal of these marks should be included in the weekly cleaning schedule, for the more they are allowed to wear into the wood the harder they are to remove.

Carbon black which is added to the rubber to make it more durable, is the ingredient which causes these marks. Turpentine and dry-cleaning fluids have been found to be the most efficient remover for these marks.

Dampen a soft cloth with turpentine or other fluid and rub the marked area. The wax will be removed in the process so that re-waxing will be necessary. Be sure the floor is dry before re-waxing. Only the area where the wax was removed needs to be re-waxed if care is taken to blend the new wax in with the old around the edge of the area.

Sometimes a liquid floor wax will remove the stain if it is not too deeply imbedded in the wax. Try rubbing the stain or mark with the liquid wax. If the mark disappears, smooth the wax into the surrounding area.

Sergt. Anderson Special Guest At Overseas Event

One Of Soldiers Entertained At Civic Reception In Derby,
England, Recently

Among the four hundred American soldiers who, along with British and Dominion men, were entertained at a Civic Reception in Derby, England, on the evening of May 10, was Technical Sergeant Robert Anderson, R. D. 4, Morris street, New Castle. Before the reception, Anderson and other Americans were photographed with the Mayor and Members of Derby who wore their heavy "chains" of office around their shoulders. English ceremony also showed up in the elegant fur-trimmed red robe of office which the mayor wore.

Held in Bemrose school, the largest hall in the city, the reception was part of Derby's "Salute the Soldier" week. Souvenir programs carried good-luck messages to the men, and the Mayor not only gave a welcoming address, but shook hands with every one of the many guests.

Comedians, singers and instrumentalists provided the entertainment for the first part of the evening, and dancing took up the latter part. According to the "Derby Evening Telegraph", there was a good-sized line the whole evening at the refreshment where refreshments were served. The most popular item was something called "trifle", but the guests handled a good supply of sausage rolls and sandwiches, as well as hot coffee and lemonade also.

Tough Battle For Cisterna

Correspondent Tells Of Fighting Preceding Fall Of City In Italy

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH AMERICAN FIFTH ARMY FORCES AT CISTERNA ITALY, May 24.—(Delayed)—Americans have been fighting in the streets of Cisterna for the past 2½ hours.

It is a dirty, sticky fight, with the Nazis resisting doggedly in the remains of buildings turned to rubble heaps by a four-month artillery and air pounding.

In the remains of the buildings which were converted into fortresses, snipers are embedded and it is difficult to extricate them from the darkness.

Tough Fight

It has been a tough fight all day, with the Germans contesting every foot of the American advance. The Nazis desperately sought to hold open an escape corridor for their southern armies to move over into semi-prepared defenses before Rome.

The beachhead command repeated yesterday's artillery barrage this morning, opening up with it an hour earlier and following up with resumption of armored and infantry drives toward Cisterna. Myriads of mines slowed the tanks and infantrymen, while snipers and increased enemy artillery and mortar fire also delayed the advance of American infantry forces under command of Lieut. Col. Fred Bove of Evansville, Ill.; T. R. Davis of San Antonio, Tex.; and Frank Izenour of Los Angeles, Calif.

Prong Is Driven In

By a combination of blood, guts and perseverance, the armor drove a prong into the northern part of Cisterna and cut the Cisterna-Corrid road. Another unit, commanded by Maj. Richard Neddersen of Berkeley, Calif., and Michael Paulick of Cloverdale, Pa., pushed a prong southeast and completed entrapment of the enemy force in Cisterna.

Only then was the frontal assault launched. I went into the outskirts in the darkness and saw only heaps of ruins, a lopped-off church tower, and smelled the stench of burning powder and enemy corpses.

Advancing on Cisterna, one American unit captured two enemy 88-millimeter guns, loaded and ready to fire. With true Yankee efficiency, the troops turned them around and fired against the Nazis.

As this piece is being written, Corrid can be seen, wreathed in flames and covered with flare clusters. Truces and artillery flashes also are visible in the Corrid area.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring apparently is not packing. But his defense is in vain—we're going places this time.

Over 180 Girls Receive Badges At Honor Court

Troop 23 Entertains City-Wide Court With Demonstration Of Dancing

One hundred and eighty-one girls received badges at Wednesday evening's Girl Scout Court of Honor, the second city-wide court to be held by New Castle troops. Nine of the scouts received their first class badges, and one girl, Nancy Hoffmann, was inducted as a senior service scout.

Mrs. Marjorie Miller, new scout executive, was introduced to the large audience assembled in the auditorium of the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. Keith McAtee, commissioner of the New Castle Scouts, gave the badges and administered the oath of office to Miss Hoffmann. Group singing was led by Miss Elise Radley. The party, which scouts of the Croton troop gave later in the evening was the main feature of entertainment. The girls showed the development of the dance from the minuet through the old fashioned "singing games" such as "Jennie Crack Corn" and included square dancing and the lively tatantella, and concluded with an exhibition of juggling which brought down the house.

Accompanists for the dancing were Mrs. Willard Purdie, piano, and Mr. Miles, banjo. Sally Gardiardi was the narrator and Camilla De Lorenzo called the square dances. Miss Leona Sankey was the director.

Three U. S. Fliers Safe In Sweden

Of Original Crews Of 10, Three Are Safe, After Bombing Germany

STOCKHOLM, May 25.—(INS)—Three more American airmen were safe in Sweden today, having narrowly escaped falling into German hands following their bombing of targets within Germany.

The airmen, their bomber damaged, attempted to make a forced landing on the German-occupied Danish Island of Bornholm. At the last moment, either seeing their mistake or driven off by anti-aircraft fire, they managed to reach the south Swedish town of Simrishamn and crash-landed in the water.

Of the original crew of 10, four were lost over Germany or when parachuting near Bornholm. Three more were drowned in the landing. The three survivors were not hurt.

Former Governor Earle Sees Nazi Collapse In 1945

HAVERFORD, Pa., May 25.—(INS)—Lt. Com. George H. Earle, former governor of Pennsylvania, today believed there is a fifty-fifty chance that Germany may capitulate early in 1945.

Earle, who returned to this country Monday after 18 months service in Istanbul as assistant naval and air attaché in the U. S. embassy, warned against optimism, however, in a visit to his Haverford home. "We can't afford to let down for one moment," he declared. "The war is approaching its climax and everyone now must pitch in and work and fight as hard as possible."

Farms Are Included In New Salvage Plan

HARRISBURG, May 25.—Pennsylvania farms are getting into the swing of scrap collecting, too, following the adoption of plans by the State Defense Council's advisory committee on salvage for a scrap drive on farms.

The summer campaign will be followed in the fall by a drive to collect all the cans, paper, and other things gathered by the farmers. Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the advisory committee explained the plan at a meeting of county leaders at which citations were awarded to 20 newspapers, 10 county committees, and the schools of four cities for their work in the year's scrap drive.

Germans Admit Retreat In Italy

BULLETIN

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 25.—German forces have evacuated the entire 21-mile coastal stretch between the Anzio beachhead and Terracina and also have retreated on the main Italian battlefield the Nazi agency DNB admitted today.

The Germans have evacuated the coastal stretch between the beachhead and the Tyrrhenian end of the southern front, DNB said.

"In the Pontecorvo-Piermonte sector the German lines have been withdrawn to the Melfa sector."

The withdrawal from the coastal region resulted apparently from American seizure of Terracina, combined with heavy onslaughts by the Fifth Army in the beachhead area.

Fourteen Workers Injured In Blast

Worst Explosion In Jamestown, N. Y. In Years, Girl Workers Among Injured

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., May 25.—(INS)—Fourteen employees of the Matthews Tire & Tread Company were injured today, two seriously, in an explosion followed by fire believed to have been caused by a spark igniting fumes from high test gasoline used in tire recapping.

The explosion, one of the worst in the town's history, occurred in the two-story concrete structure and smashed windows in homes and buildings in a several block area.

Less than two years ago, the Matthews Company, one of the largest tire recapping firms in the southwest, New York, had a similar explosion at another Jamestown location.

Girls Among Injured
Girl workers in the first floor of the company as well as the employees in the shop, including owner Kenneth Matthews, 35, were either cut by flying glass or burned in the accident.

All machinery on the first floor was smashed by the concussion. Hundreds of tires on the second floor, however, were unharmed.

The Jamestown Post-Journal, located next door to the tire company, and the postoffice, nearby, were among buildings whose windows were smashed.

In its recapping process, the Matthews Company, which has a government contract, uses high test gasoline to thin out rubber cement before applying it to the tires. A 50-gallon can of the gasoline, about one-fifth full, was believed to have been the cause of the explosion.

Denies Subversive Records Destroyed

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS)—Secretary of War Stimson said today that the war department had not destroyed its files of records on subversive activities compiled down through the years.

He described the congressional inquiry into reports such records had been destroyed as "one of those flurries of interest necessarily taking place in a free country with a vigorous congress."

The secretary also called attention at his news conference to a statement by the subcommittee of the senate military affairs committee that the group was satisfied that the war department would not destroy the subversive records.

New Supply Bill Reported

By ERWIN D. SIAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The House appropriations committee approved today a new supply bill carrying $1,033,358,367 for 16 federal war agencies in the new fiscal year scarcely more than one-third the amount voted for the same purpose a year ago.

Indicating a downward trend from the peak on overall war expenditures, the committee's recommendations fell one billion, 786 million dollars below the funds appropriated for the 1944 fiscal year. The committee also slashed the budget bureau's request for the 1945 fiscal year by nearly thirty-eight million dollars, holding that the economies suggested should "easily put into effect."

Largest cut made by the "economy-minded" committee, which controls the government's purse-strings, was twenty million dollars from the War Shipping Administration's plea for 550 million, 350 thousand dollars. The decrease was based on "the uncertainty of a number of factors of expense."

Has Numbers' Book; Is Under Arrest

Policemen Joseph Clavelli and Michael Fazzone at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday arrested John Rankin colored, on the West Side on a charge of being a suspicious person and when searched he was alleged to have a Numbers' book in his possession, according to Police Chief Robert D. Hanna. The chief stated he would prefer a charge of Rankin having set up and maintained a lottery before a local alderman today. This was the third arrest within 27 hours for alleged connections with the numbers' racket.

The officers were sent to Front street on a complaint in that district. Rankin was found in the neighborhood, and a search produced the alleged numbers book.

Price Panel Board Emphasizes Rules

The Price Panel Board of the local Rationing Board held its regular Wednesday meeting last night in the offices at Aiken school. Grocers who are not posting prices, or who are overcharging, are called to appear at these meetings, in accordance with regulations from OPA headquarters in Washington.

According to the Price Panel Board, all grocers must have the OPA Group I sign prominently displayed in their stores. OPA community selling prices on dry groceries and retail prices on meat must also be posted in a conspicuous place.

The board now is carrying on a survey of soft drink prices in the city. As far as the survey has gone, most stores are complying with regulations, the board announces.

Establishments which are supposed to be filling selling prices for services but which do not have the proper filling forms may obtain them at the office of the Price Panel Board, on Pearson street.

Free Swimming Campaign Will Start At Y June 5

This year, as in years past, the Y.M.C.A. will sponsor a swimming campaign for non-swimmers.

During the course of the campaign efforts will be made to make swimmers of all who enroll. The campaign will run for a period of two weeks and will be free to all boys between the ages of 10 and 16.

Coupons will appear in the newspaper later, and the boys will be able to enroll by simply filling out the coupon and returning it to the Y. This course is under the supervision of the physical department and Mr. Winter, the physical director will have several capable aides.

"Don't be a non-swimmer, enroll in the campaign" is the advice of the Y. There is to be no charge whatever to the boys.

Southern France Rail Yards Bombed

NAPLES, May 25.—(INS)—Heavy bombers of the Mediterranean Air Force today attacked the railway yards in the Lyons and Toulon areas of southern France.

The attacks marked the deepest penetration yet made into France by four-motored bombers from the Mediterranean area.

They also represented the second longest run made from this sector. Budapest, frequently attacked in the past, is the only target yet hit that is farther distant than Lyons.

Mediterranean Air Force headquarters officially announced that the record number of 3,300 sorties were flown yesterday.

Officer)

SOMEWHERE IN THE MARSHALL ISLANDS—(Delayed)—(INS)—Three pilots of the Fourth Marine Air Wing, covering the recent invasion of Ujelang atoll in the Marshall Islands, established an endurance record for the Corsair fighter plane on a combat mission.

The flight, made without opposition, almost doubled the usual time of a Corsair on a single mission. At the end of the sixth hour, a colonel at the air base inquired about one of the participants. Informed that the pilot had not yet returned from the mission, the colonel looked apprehensively at his watch. He was told there was no reason to worry.

Unique Achievement
Leading the unique, history-making flight was Maj. Loren D. (Doc) Everton of Crofton, Neb., holder of the Navy Cross and an ace with 12 Zeros to his credit. With him were Capt. Frank Drury of Danby, Mo., and First Lieut. Nicholas Chernok of Long Island, N. Y.

In preparation for any kind of opposition, Everton had each plane loaded to capacity with ammunition and extra fuel. Ujelang was regularly visited on a search mission by Jap planes out of Truk.

"Once at our destination," Everton said, "we circled our landing ships for an hour until the Marines filed into the landing boats. Then, as they fanned out, we sat up in the clouds over the southeastern part of the island, with one eye on our ships and the other on approaching sky-ways for possible Jap planes."

"When the clouds dispersed, we climbed higher. To break the monotony, we ran interception on some Army medium-bombers headed on another mission."

"In brief, we did everything that can be done with a Corsair. We flew all the way from 50 feet to 10,000 feet."

When the planes landed, each had 60 or more gallons of gasoline left. And, the planes otherwise were in good mechanical condition.

"Thus, we could have easily stretched the time," Everton said. "Personally, we felt no strain either, except that we would have welcomed cushion seats. Our hunger was satisfied with sandwiches and apples we carried."

IS SMALL WORLD BROTHERS LEARN

BOUGANVILLE.—(INS)—When Pvt. Riley Hayes of Muncie, Ind., noted that the letter he received from his brother, Ollen, was dated the same day that he got it, he decided that Ollen couldn't be very far away. A check of A.P.O. numbers and a pass for Riley brought the brothers together on Bouganville for the first time since they were inducted in Muncie a year ago.

"It is extremely important at this particular time that we maintain full scale production," he declared.

Wartime Canning Notes

By Miss Josephine Simpson,
Home Economics Extension
Representative

SPINACH CAN BE SERVED IN MANY DIFFERENT WAYS

Fresh spinach, plentiful in the markets now, can be prepared in different ways to tempt even the finicky eater of the family.

Some persons have disliked spinach because it was not cleaned properly. As soon as spinach is brought home, wash carefully and remove any bruised leaves and tough stems. Rinse in warm water first and then several times in cold water until perfectly clean. Lift spinach out of the water each time rather than draining water off. Drain and store in a covered dish in the refrigerator.

The young, tender spinach leaves can be served raw in a salad. Shred and add to any combination of raw vegetables, such as leaf lettuce, curly endive, chinese cabbage, shredded cabbage, radishes, cucumbers, onions or peppers. Mix lightly with French dressing just before serving.

Mustard sauce adds a new flavor to cooked spinach. Mix equal parts of melted butter and prepared mustard with grated or chopped onion. Mix with spinach that has been cooked with just the water clinging to it after washing.

Panned spinach with bacon is easily prepared. Cut several slices of bacon, cut into quarter-inch strips in a large frying pan. Remove bacon and add clean, drained spinach to the bacon fat. Cover and cook until spinach is wilted. Stir occasionally. Garnish with pieces of bacon.

Left-over spinach can be made into soup. Strain cooked spinach and add to milk that has been seasoned with butter or other fat, onion, salt and pepper.

WESTMINSTER HEAD EVANS CITY SPEAKER

Dr. Robert F. Gairbreath, president of Westminster college, spoke on "Do We Want Peace?" at the annual commencement exercises of Evans City High school Tuesday evening, when thirty-eight graduates were presented their diplomas.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pain, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or empty passages with stinging and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It's still BIG MONEY in our business!

THE ordinary copper penny has lost a lot of its purchasing power these days—and even some of its copper. But it still buys as much electricity as ever.

For example, right now in your home a penny will toast about twenty slices of bread—or brew ten cups of coffee—or clean five big rugs—or run your refrigerator for several hours.

Rather startling what a penny will do when you think of it that way, isn't it?

Actually, the price of electricity came down so steadily before the war—and it has stayed down so successfully since—that today the average family gets about twice as much electricity for the same money it paid fifteen years ago.

All this didn't just happen, of course. It's due largely to the hard work, efficiency and experience of your friends and neighbors who man and manage this company. That's why a penny, spent for electricity, buys so much.

CAUTION: Even though electricity is cheap—even though it isn't rationed—PLEASE DON'T WASTE IT. Coal, oil, manpower, transportation go into the making of electricity and these are critical war resources.

State Democrats See Victory For Roosevelt Again

State Committee Forecasts Fourth Term Success In Fall Election For President

HARRISBURG, May 25.—(INS)—A fourth term victory for President Roosevelt was forecast today by the Democratic state committee as party chieftains called for a settlement of factional differences.

David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh was named chairman for a third term and Mrs. Ruth G. Horting of Lancaster was elected vice chairman by the 113-member committee during a reorganization at Harrisburg.

Mrs. Horting succeeds Marie M. Bickert of Philadelphia.

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Pittsburgh, who nominated Lawrence and thus marked an end to several years' bickering, said he and the chairman had "patched up" their differences and urged other party factions to do likewise.

Lawrence and Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller of Pittsburgh were re-elected national committee members.

The President's endorsement was echoed at a committee dinner last night by Cong. Albert Gore (D-Tennessee), who condemned any Republican attempt to support Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in opposition to Mr. Roosevelt.

St. Mary's Club Plan Activities

Rev. Fr. Francis King, Moderator of Club, Speaks To High School Club

Regular meeting of the St. Mary's high school club was held at the Catholic Center Wednesday evening, at which time the constitution of the club was amended, at the request of the graduates of the local high schools who wish to become honorary members of the society.

It was decided that the Catholic youth dances at the center are to be continued every Friday evening throughout the summer months from 8 to 11:30 o'clock. The women of the parish in charge for this week are Mrs. Jessie Stenger and Mrs. Frank Gruben.

Election of new officers will take place on June 7 to fill the vacancies made by graduating officers of the club. Names for prospective officers were given last evening. The officers whose terms expire at graduation this year include: president, Robert Capitoia; vice-president, Larry Flynn; treasurer, Anna Buckley.

Plans were made for a frolic on June 24, the following in charge: Pat Chip, Larry Flynn, Alice Gruben and James Guinagh.

Rev. Fr. Francis P. King, moderator of the club, spoke on the need for a spiritual retreat for the high school children. Afterwards various sports, games and dancing proved to be the main diversion. Refreshments were served at the center's canteen.

Insect Control Meeting Planned For Gardeners

Victory Garden Committee Arranges Meeting For June 1 In Legion Home

Charles G. Lindner, chairman of the victory garden committee for New Castle, announced today that arrangements have been completed for a meeting on insect and disease control, which will be held in the Legion Home building, N. Jefferson street, at 8:30 o'clock June 1.

Dr. Henry Menusan, insect control and disease specialist, of the Penn State college extension department will be the speaker, and will discuss the various insects and diseases which attack garden vegetables and methods of control.

This meeting should be very timely, as it is about this time that many insect pests begin to put in their appearance.

Consistory Has Dinner Meeting

Arrangements For Coming Reunion Discussed At Meeting In Cathedral

Workers of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, who will assist with the spring reunion on June 7, 8 and 9, gathered in the Cathedral Wednesday evening for a dinner meeting, when the plans for the coming reunion were outlined by Commander in Chief Howard Geary and Ill. Welly O. Rugh, chairman of the service division.

It was revealed that a class of 300 is expected to be present for the degrees, the biggest class in many years. Because of wartime restrictions, the reunion will be streamlined.

The three-day convocation will terminate in a big dinner party on Friday evening, reservations to which are limited to 1,400, the commander in chief announced.

TRANSPLANTED SEEDS
From hevea seeds taken from the western hemisphere in 1876 grew the fields on which the world has depended for 90 per cent of its rubber since 1920. Replanted in Calcutta, Singapore and other posts in the Far East, these wild seedlings became 9,000,000 acres of rubber-producing trees.

The U. S. Congress established the Lifesaving Service in 1871, under the chief of the Revenue Marine, which was the name by which the Coast Guard was then known. It made an appropriation for its equipment and a permanent paid force of keepers and surfmen.

Soldiers Know What Word Salvage Means

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 25.—(INS)—Saving of scrap paper, metals and tin cans at Camp Reynolds is adding materially to the nation's stockpile of resources for conversion to war use, reports Capt. J. A. Pfeiffer, field conservation officer with the camp's salvage and redistribution branch.

During the month of April Camp Reynolds saved and baled 2 tons of cardboard and a waste paper—a critical product in demand for packaging and shipping of war goods.

Also sold to dealers for salvage were 34 tons of ferrous metals, 15 tons of flattened tin cans, 2,200 egg crates, 100,000 pounds of spent fats, bones, and trap grease—the latter an important chemical source for explosives.

U-Boat Probably Sunk By Rocket

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS)—Rockets from naval bombing planes "probably destroyed" a German U-boat in the Atlantic, the navy announced today.

This was the first disclosure of the use of rockets by American planes against submarines in the Atlantic area.

GEORGE PAPANDREOU IS PREMIER AGAIN

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS)—The Cairo radio said today that George Papandreu, who resigned as premier of the Greek government in exile several days ago to pave the way for a coalition cabinet representing all parties, was again sworn in by King George as premier and foreign minister.

Plans To Curb Black Market Liquor Ready

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS)—The Senate liquor investigating committee, after three months of hearings, was reported today to have reached the point of drawing up recommendations for curbing the liquor black market.

The recommendations could be along one or all of the following lines:

1. Allocation of alcohol stocks now in the hands of the government and liquor manufacturers for beverage use.
2. A liquor "holiday."
3. Legislation designed to strengthen the authority of federal enforcement agencies.

The committee could recommend that Donald Nelson, war production board chairman, direct the release of a certain percentage of alcohol from the government stockpile as well as permit manufacturers to divert some of their production to the beverage trade.

German Report Of Italian Battle

"Great Defensive Battle" Is Increasing In Intensity Is Report Of Nazis

LONDON, May 25.—(INS)—The German high command reported today that the "great defensive battle" in Italy was increasing in intensity.

A broadcast communique claimed that an Allied force which landed behind the German western wing in the Anzio beachhead area was annihilated.

(Editor's Note: The Nazis yesterday reported a leap-frog operation behind their lines but Allied headquarters in Naples made no mention of any such operation in communique yesterday or today.)

The Rome correspondent of the German transoceanic agency reported meanwhile that:

"The Allies have broken out of the Garigliano valley. The second round of the battle in Italy has begun."

It was admitted that the Germans "according to orders" detached themselves from the Littoria area in a northeastern direction toward mountain ridges to join hands with German formations from the Terracina sector.

The communique asserted that "the Allies now are concentrating on forcing a breakthrough in the Melfa sector to overtake the German forces who are disorganizing themselves" and added:

"This operation is co-ordinated with a tank attack from the bridgehead at Cisterna northward in the direction of Velletri. A heavy battle is raging this moment there to foil General Mark Clark's attack at pushing into the rear of the German positions in the Melfa sector."

Canker Worms And Ants Pestiferous

Control Measures Are Suggested By Penn State Insect Control Specialist

Canker worms and ants have been found to be quite pestiferous this year, and control measures have been suggested by Dr. Henry Menzies, Penn State College insect control specialist, who was here today.

Canker worms are the little green measuring or span worms, which infest trees, and also get blown around onto other foliage following heavy wind storms, such as occurred this week. They can be controlled now by use of arsenical sprays, but prompt action should be taken before they have denuded trees of their foliage.

Ants can be controlled by use of a cyanide preparation, but care should be exercised in using it, as it is dangerous to humans also in an enclosed area.

Paradichlorobenzene crystals used in the extermination of moths is very effective. The crystals should be placed down in the nest and the surrounding area covered over with wet cloth or burlap, to keep the fumes in.

Many complaints have been made that ants are more numerous this year.

Pirates Defeat Boston Braves

Pirates Get Revenge For Recent Lacing At Forbes Field By Braves

NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS).—All the rest of the clubs in the two major leagues owe some thanks to the few which are keeping the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals from making an early run away of the pennant races.

In the American league, it is the Washington Senators and the St. Louis Browns who are doggedly clinging to the heels of the Yanks, while in the National the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cincinnati Reds are up there making a tussle for the flag.

Hay Is Made
In both circuits the contending clubs made hay yesterday while the sun shone on them and the leaders were mired down by rain.

The Yankees and Chicago White Sox were postponed, and the Washington club kept in the race by downing the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard scattered eight Indian hits to win almost as he pleased for the Senators, who banked out 11 safeties and overtook a four-run first inning splurge by the Indians.

In a night game, St. Louis beat Boston, 7 to 3, which placed the Browns only two games behind the Yankees in the standings.

Pirates Beat Braves
In the other American league game, Philadelphia beat Detroit, 8 to 4. A home run by Catcher Frank Hayes with the bases loaded helped.

The second place Pittsburgh club kept humming along behind the Cardinals in the National league with the aid of Pitcher Rip Sewell, who hurled a six-hitter and belted a single, and a pair of doubles to drive in three runs. He won by 8 to 1 behind the Cardinals, whose game with the Brooklyn Dodgers was postponed.

The cellar-dwelling Chicago Cubs may find their winning string to five straight with a 2 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game.

Holman Williams Defeats Chase

OAKLAND, Cal., May 25.—(INS).—Holman Williams, Detroit's colored middleweight, held his fourth victory over Jack Chase today after taking a 12-round decision from the Waldensburg, Colo., lad at Oakland auditorium.

The pair put on a fast and interesting contest last night, with Williams gaining the nod on the strength of his educated left jab. Williams weighed 160½, Chase 160.

PHILLIES DROP CATCHER
PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—(INS).—The Phillies today had shipped Catcher Bill Anske on option to Ulf of the Eastern league.
Anske, who formerly played with Narberth in the Main Line league, was discharged from the army last year. The Blue Jays have five other catchers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Henry Armstrong plans to stay with the ring business yet awhile. Hammerin' Henry, only man in fight history to hold three championships at the same time, figures to be a prominent guy in the welterweight picture for some time to come. "I'm ready for the best in my class," Henry said, "and I know there'll be no setups where I'm concerned. All the youngsters want a crack at me." The former featherweight, lightweight and welterweight king, now touring his comeback trail, admits he's lost some of the speed that prompted sports writers to label him the "perpetual motion" boxing machine of a few years ago.

"But I still can go against anyone in the same weight class," he insisted. Henry, now in his 30's, has been in more than 300 fights. Armstrong, a Los Angeles negro who formerly fought under Al Johnson's banner, is due to meet Willie Jones, one of the better veterans in Chicago, next month. Then he's ticketed for a bout here against Sammy Angott, the former N. B. A. titleholder, July 17.

Armstrong's latest win was over 18-year-old Aaron Perry at Washington, D. C. He had Perry on the floor five times before the referee decided to halt the slaughter. The Associated Press scorecard gave Armstrong five of the six rounds. The bout was scheduled for ten.

Several changes in collegiate football rules, most of them recommended by Lou Little, Columbia coach and chairman of the rules committee, will highlight a two-day meeting of the American Football Coaches' association in New York, May 28-29. Officers have predicted. The changes, expected to be enacted immediately, were recommended after a survey of the coaches, and the rules committee is anxious to institute severe penalties for the out-of-bounds kick-off.

Philadelphia Phillies face the possible loss of two key players and a utility man. Pitcher Ken Raffensberger, 26, and the father of two children, and Ron Northey, outfielder, were both ordered to appear Friday for Selective Service examinations. Northey, 24, was examined before and rejected because of a punctured eardrum, but his draft board recently reclassified him I-A. Ben Culp, third-string catcher also received orders to report for his physical. Culp, 30, is the father of five children.

Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden, famous professional golfers, present contrasting swing styles. Nelson employs the shuttles technique at the top. McSpaden is wide open. It is feared that the present shortage of golf balls will become a famine before the season is finished. Synthetic rubber is not yet perfected for golf balls.

Track Coach Dead

KENNE FITZPATRICK, 79, dean of American track and field coaches, is dead at his Princeton, N. J., home after years of illness. Fitzpatrick coached at Yale, Michigan and then coached at Princeton for 22 years. Among the students he trained were A. A. Stagg and Bill Bonthron. (International)

Death of the famous coach recalls that Fitzpatrick and the late Jimmie Dime were friends in their early running days. Dime at one time served as track coach at a New York state college and was also a professional runner. . . . Sports Editor.

Battles Lee Friday

Joe Baksi, Kulpmont, Pa., coal miner and Lee Savold, middle-west heavyweight, meet in a return bout Friday night in New York. They are scheduled to box 12 rounds. In their March bout Savold beat the favored Baksi in a close fight.

REDS' NIGHT RECORD

The Reds have a pennant-winning percentage for night baseball having won 51 of 78 at home since installing lights.

Sol Schiff, four times U. S. table tennis champion, winner of one Canadian title, and twice co-holder of the world doubles crown, now is at Camp Crowder, Mo. Schiff won his first national title when he was 15. In an European tour he defeated 23 of the best 24 foreign players.

Big Ten Heads Are In Session

CHICAGO, May 25.—(INS).—Big Ten faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches met in Chicago today to whip together their 1945 and 1946 football schedules, revise next season's basketball schedules and perhaps reconsider the wartime eligibility rules adopted last year.

The withdrawal of the University of Chicago from all formal Western Conference athletic competition will permit a general readjustment of the basketball schedules which in recent years gave the Maroons one game against most other conference members.

Postponed Games Must Be Played

President Michael Donovan of the City baseball league today announced that he would like to have all managers in the league get together and arrange to play-off their postponed league games as soon as possible.

The recent inclement weather has caused a piling up of the postponed games. The managers should notify Ed Fritz of The News when they are to play off postponed games.

Site Of Game Changed Today

Nick Rotunno, manager of the I. A. Machinists baseball team, today announced that the scheduled game this evening between West Pittsburgh and the Machinists will be played at the Booker T. Washington field instead of the E & A field owing to the latter field being too muddy for play.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, May 25.—(INS).—Athletes who are too old, too young or too 4-F to fight in the war and who can get away from their current chores will be doing a great service to the armed forces by contacting the U.S.O. for brief overseas morale-building service. Units are being organized now to help entertain the troops who have been slung it out at Anzio, elsewhere in Europe and down in the South Pacific.

Many such units composed of theatrical entertainers have gone abroad, some for pay and some for free, and they have done a world of good in bringing cheer and a touch of home to the lonely kids scattered about the world, but we are a sports loving nation and their most urgent requests have centered around a plea for more visiting athletes.

Doing Noble Job
The U.S.O. is doing a noble job a job almost beyond criticism and has eliminated some of the objectionable characters who infested the early tours to such extent that correspondents abroad took time out from more important writing to take a whack at the terrible bores and misbehaving string-pullers who sometimes have gone along just for the ride and the publicity.

There have been reports of several unpleasant incidents, but a surprising few compared with the number of units which have been gathered and dispatched to the far corners, often to live for a time under the trying conditions that face the troops themselves just behind the lines. There have been a gratifying few complaints and there is no telling just how much good these units have done in keeping the kids emotionally fit for the terrible things they face almost daily.

And if any criticism is to be made it must be concerned with the seemingly inevitable appearance of such dull acts on some of the programs that the kids sometimes are inclined to walk out on the show. They shouldn't be inflicted with things abroad that they would tolerate at home.

Soldiers Love Sports
That probably is a minor point, however, in the broad general scheme of things and the U.S.O. continues to do a grand job under extremely difficulties and has shown an inclination to provide the essence of the kind of entertainment that troops will most enjoy. They want all the pretty girls and singers and music they can get, and also athletes.

In the latter connection, Fred Goetzman, tournament manager for the professional golf association speaks as a something of an expert. He helped entertain troops in England more or less on his own, then took Jack Sharkey, the ex-heavyweight champion, and Lefty Gomez, former steller southpaw of the Yankees, to the African theater.

You will never know how much these kids love sports and athletes until you have been there and seen them sit spell-bound through more or less impromptu programs such as we put on.

They never get enough of listening to athletes spin their yarns or of asking questions, and the more athletes we can send abroad the better off our troops will be.

This would be a good thing for us to remember more so now than ever before with D-day coming.

Sec. Stimson Says Invasion Will Be Success

WASHINGTON, May 25.—(INS)—Secretary of War Stimson today declared that the forthcoming invasion of Europe will be a "success."

He made this assertion at his news conference after he was asked if anyone in the war department had considered the possibility that the Allied landings on the continent might result in failure. Stimson replied:

"Undoubtedly the reason you have heard nothing about the possibility of failure is due to the fact that such operations are not undertaken unless all concerned are confident of its success. All phases of such an operation are considered in the initial planning."

New System Works
In his weekly review, the secretary also disclosed that a large measure of the success of Allied forces in the Italian campaign was due to a new system of replacing front line forces with fresh troops.

Stimson stated that the Anzio beachhead made useless Nazi propaganda claims about their ability to repel overseas assaults. Whereas Anzio at first was merely a threat to the enemy's flank, Stimson said it finally turned into "an imminent danger of entrapment."

Part of the success of the Allied offensive also was due to Allied air superiority in that battle zone, Stimson added.

From the United Kingdom Stimson said that American and British airmen continued their devastating attacks against German industry and communication lines. He explained that in a single day 130 locomotives working for the Germans were destroyed and others damaged.

Move Westward
In the Southwest Pacific, the secretary said the latest Allied landings on Wakde made United Nations forces 125 miles westward—"nearer to the Japs in the Philippines and the East Indies."

The secretary said Jap resistance on Wakde was force but short-lived and the enemy lost 833 killed against 41 killed, 135 wounded and two missing for the Allies.

In the Hollandia-Aitape area Stimson said Jap dead now total 3,352.

The secretary hailed the recent Allied carrier and land-based air attack on the Japanese-held naval base at Surabaya, Java.

In the Asiatic theater Stimson said that the first heavy rains of the monsoon season had begun but he added that Allied forces had succeeded in virtually eradicating the Japanese in the Myittha area.

Question Several In Woman's Death
Stranded Husband, Woman Drug Clerk and Meat Salesman Being Questioned

DETROIT, May 25.—(INS)—Detectives of the homicide squad began a painstaking investigation today into the movements of Kenneth Long, 41, on the night his estranged wife Jean, 40, was slashed to death in the aisle of the church in which they were married 17 years ago.

The mutilated body of Mrs. Long who served the Twelfth Street Evangelical church as part time secretary, was found by the Rev. Newell C. Liesemer, pastor, yesterday. Police said she was slain about 8:35 p. m. Tuesday, the time her watch stopped after a furious fight.

Admits Quarrel
Her estranged husband admitted he quarreled with her earlier in the evening, according to police.

Long, a Willow Run maintenance man, was locked up overnight when detectives said they wanted a clearer account of his whereabouts between 7 p. m. and 10:45 p. m. Tuesday.

Held for investigation with Long was Alex Simpson, 48, a Chicago meat salesman, who admitted he had a date to meet or call Mrs. Long at the church Tuesday evening and drove past the building at Twelfth and Division about 8:35 p. m. without seeing her.

Detained by police also was Mrs. Ruth Maizer, 32, drug store employee. Detectives said she and Long were together at his hotel at 10:45 p. m. Tuesday, it not earlier.

Simpson told police he met the church secretary on a train last November and that his relationship with her was strictly on a "platonic basis."

Morocco will spend 52 million dollars in 1944, much of it to finance the requirements of the French Committee of National Liberation.

Most Plants To Operate Here Memorial Day

Many New Castle workers who ordinarily would have a holiday on Memorial Day, Tuesday May 30 will be at their appointed tasks on that day this year. A check of the industries of the city today revealed the fact that most of them would work.

Among those that said definitely they plants would work were Aluminum Company of America and the National Radiator Company. The United Engineering and Foundry Co. will work through the week end in order to be off on Tuesday.

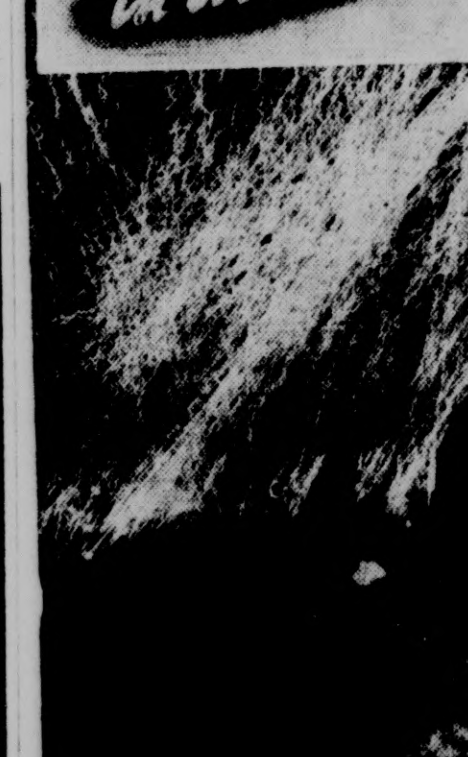

The Shenango Pottery Company will probably work Memorial Day and also the Johnson Bronze Company, although when the check was made the decision had not been definitely made. Indications were it would.

The condition is general over the country, Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board has asked all plants on war orders to not shut down for Memorial Day. In short, workers of America this year will not lay off on Memorial Day to honor the heroic dead, but will work to supply the living service men with the tools of war.

Russian doctors are using onion paste to ward off infection and aid in healing wounds. They have found that the essential oils of onions, garlic and other strong-scented vegetables contain bacteria-killing substances called phytoncides.

A Brazilian fungus that grows on dead trees emits a light so bright that you can read a book by it at night.

WAR BONDS in action

"Flak" it is called. In this picture it is bullets fired from anti-aircraft naval units during the battle for Italy.

"Flak" is strictly a defensive weapon, calculated to keep enemy fliers as high as possible. War Bonds, too, are a defensive weapon against our greatest post war threat, inflation.

Pa. News noted yesterday that because of someone's vision Laurel boulevard was a beautiful place. It was reported by the city hall porter that former Councilman Louis Gentlinger was the prime mover in beautifying the boulevard years ago.

Carnival which showed here recently paid a license of $360 to the city. Police were required to perform extra duty. Today in council solons ordered police paid for the extra work out of the license fee the opinion that this could be legally done having been given by Solicitor Robert McKinney White.

Joseph D. Alexander, director of city parks and playgrounds, reported to council today playgrounds would be opened the first week in June which had a hearing on council.

STOCK MARKET CONTINUES FIRM

Stock Market Prices Firm After Higher And Active Opening Today

NEW YORK, May 25—(INS)—Stocks were influenced by profit taking today after a higher and active opening but most issues continued firm. Some again made new highs.

Sales ran at better than a 200,000 an hour pace.

Many traders held off taking the constructive side at this juncture after a rise of more than a week. However, they were impressed with the underlying strength in evidence on setbacks.

Park & Tilford was a feature spurring 3 points in an otherwise lower liquor group.

Rubbers, steels, foods, shipbuilding shares, aviation, coppers, and mining issues were quiet. However, Macy was active and strong at 35 1/2, up 1 1/2 to a new high, and preferred when issued sold at 105.

Directors yesterday declared a dividend of one share of 4 1/2 per cent preferred for every ten shares of common sold in addition to the usual 50 cent cash dividend.

Montgomery Ward, Willys Overland, U. S. Steel, General Motors International Telephone and Society showed a tendency to harden on weak spots.

United States Must Rule Air

Would Erect Airfields, Not Statues, To Honor American Servicemen And Women

By JANE COCHRAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 25.—Heroes of World War II will be perpetuated in 160-acre airfields and landing strips throughout the country rather than as statues on the nation's courthouse lawns under plans formulated today by the Civil Air Patrol League, Inc.

The CAP league, newly organized sponsoring unit of the Civil Air Patrol, is dedicated to encouraging all types of education, but especially in interesting youths of today in aviation.

Need Airfields
"We feel," declared Thomas H. Beck, chairman of the CAPL and president of the Crowell-Collier Publishing Co., "that the building of airfields throughout the country will do much more to honor the heroes who have served and saved the nation in this war than the erecting of statues."

"The welfare of our nation requires an aviation-minded generation. Neither in peace nor in war can America ever be other than first in the air. The stakes are too high—peace, security and prosperity. We must be first."

For this reason, Beck explained, the CAPL is interested not only in ensuring the support of the Civil Air Patrol which now has 89,668 officers and enlisted personnel devoting their time to the promotion of aviation, but to the encouragement of postwar aviation, too.

Air Interest High
"Interest is naturally high now in the air," he said. "We plan to encourage that interest in the time of peace as well."

This sentiment was applauded by General H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the Army Air Forces in a letter to Beck.

The Civil Air Patrol league is enlisting members on a nation-wide basis and membership dues are the only funds being solicited. These dues go to the support of the CAP and plans for furthering aviation.

The CAP is currently engaged in giving pre-flight training to more than 48,000 cadets between the ages of 15 and 17 and these young men, the CAPL believes, will be the backbone of postwar aviation. The league also has the aim of promoting the general welfare of the nation's youth as well as encouraging it to better health and citizenship.

"The league's purpose," said Beck, "is to secure a vast membership of American citizens who want to help in maintaining America as the No. 1 nation in the air for all time to come."

Vocational School Is Well Equipped

Fifth Year Of School Will Begin
This Summer; More Trained
Men Needed

As the Vocational school at the Ben Franklin junior high begins its fifth year this summer, there is a greater need than for months for trained machinists, according to Earl M. Cass, director of the vocational schools.

Places for at least twenty-five persons will be made when the high school and junior high schools close. A new class will begin on June 5, and will last for seven weeks, five days a week between the hours of 8 in the morning till 4 in the afternoon. New trainees will be accepted as soon as the first ones complete the course.

Originally stocked with 22 pieces of machinery, the vocational school on Lutten street now has 55 pieces, the new ones coming from the NYA Center. The NYA machinery was allocated to the county schools by the Treasury Department of the United States and is being used by both the city and county schools.

According to Charles F. Zinn, chief of Industrial Education, of Department of Public Instruction, the vocational school machine shop is one of the best equipped schools in the state.

Registration may be made at either the United States Employment Agency on Washington street, or at the school itself.

Henry Home Children
Buy Stamps, Bonds

Margaret Henry Home children are keeping stamp books, too. Each child at the home has his own, and every Tuesday his money is sent in to the home office along with the child's name.

When enough stamps have been checked up for a child he receives a bond. It takes a while, but so far five of the children have bonds to their credit.
